

U. S. Asks Red UN Delegate to Disqualify Self

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States demanded today that Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin "disqualify himself" as president of the U. N. Security Council during the Congo debate.

Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the 11-nation council Zorin should vacate the chair because of his attacks on the United Nations, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld and Congo President Joseph Kasavubu.

"I can hardly see that you will be able to preside over the council in these circumstances," Wadsworth told Zorin.

A surprise U. S. move came as the council met to debate a Soviet demand that imprisoned ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba be released and that the troops of Congo strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu be disbanded.

Wadsworth asserted, "It is no toilsome that the Soviet Union has used all available means to destroy the U. N. effort in the Congo."

The U. S. delegate said that in view of Soviet policy on the Congo, "you are likely to be too prejudiced" to preside.

The West headed off an attempt by the Soviet Union's Valerian Zorin, council president for December, to call a snap meeting Tuesday night. The Western powers insisted on at least 24 hours' notice to give them time to prepare their case.

The Soviets gave a clear indication of the line they will take in a statement Tuesday accusing Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld of playing a "disgraceful role" of servility to the West in the Congo.

The statement blamed the Western Big Three and Belgium for the latest events in the strife-torn African state. The four main Soviet demands:

1. Free Lumumba at once along with other imprisoned members of his ousted regime.
2. Disarm Mobutu's forces.
3. Set up a special Asian-African mission to find out who is financing Mobutu's army.
4. Expel all Belgian nationals from the Congo.

Final Cotton Report Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's final cotton production report of the year will be issued Thursday.

Officials expected the latest production estimate to be changed little from the 14,298,000 bales indicated a month ago. Last year's crop was 14,558,000 bales.

Rail Car, Truck Collide and 5 Persons Die

NASHUA, N. H. (AP)—A crowded self-propelled diesel railroad passenger car collided with a bottle gas truck at an ungarded grade crossing today, killing five, four of them an entire family.

The crash touched off an ear-splitting explosion that was followed by fire.

Twenty-seven of those on board the train were taken to hospitals.

The young proprietor of a bottled gas establishment died with his wife and two tiny babies in the shattered cab of the truck.

One of the injured was Peter Woodbury, Chief Judge of the United States First District Court of Appeals in Boston. He was treated at a hospital for minor injuries and released soon afterward.

The car splattered with flaming wreckage, sped a quarter-mile down the track while fire flashed through it. One passenger was hurled from the car and killed by the impact.

As the car ground to a stop, still on the rails, "flames seemed to fill the entire train," one passenger said. The 40 passengers and crew—many of them suffering burns—fled in panic through front and rear exits.

A telephone call from an industrial wood-preserving plant near the crossing brought fire engines and ambulances racing to the scene.

Bits of the truck, loaded with small tanks of commercial gas used by householders for cooking, were blown in all directions.

The resulting blaze spread into the single-car train which carried about 40 passengers, some of whom had boarded it in Concord and Manchester.

Police identified the dead as: Robert Wrenn, 28, proprietor of a Nashua bottled gas service and former high school basketball star, his 27-year-old wife, Patricia, and their two babies, six-week-old Jennifer and 19-month-old Christopher; and John S. Wilder.

Wrenn's family was riding with him in the cab of the truck as it approached an ungarded private crossing.

Wilder, a passenger on the train, had papers giving addresses in Manchester, N. H., and Arlington, Mass., police said.

A priest administered last rites of the Roman Catholic Church to several of the victims.

The train passengers, many of them burned, and others suffering from shock—were rushed to two Nashua hospitals by several ambulances which sped with fire engines to the scene.

"It was terrible," said one of the survivors, Mrs. Daniel MacDonnell, 37, of Manchester. "Flames seemed to fill the entire train. My head aches and I am shocked."

Federal Workers Down by 4,102

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said today the total of federal employees dropped 4,102 in October as compared with September. The total was 2,360,534 in October.

Byrd, chairman of the Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, said workers in civilian agencies decreased 2,480 to a total of 1,325,350 while civilian employment in the military services dropped 1,613 to a total of 1,035,184.

Some Hot Money

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thirty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smoot lost faith in savings institutions. They turned to the mattress instead.

Tuesday they forgot to turn off a heating pad before they went to work in their small bar next door.

Hours later they smelled smoke. Their mattress was smoldering, filling the house with smoke.

"Our money, our money," cried Mrs. Smoot. "All our savings are sewed inside."

Luckily the $8,000 was intact.

More State Laws Before High Court

By PAUL M. YOST

WASHINGTON (AP)—State laws which forbid commercial activities on Sunday faced their most serious legal challenge in many years today.

Faced with conflicting rulings by lower courts, the Supreme Court called for arguments today and Thursday involving the validity of Sunday closing laws—commonly known as blue laws—in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Other appeals pending from Ohio and South Carolina also would be affected by whatever ruling the court eventually hands down.

Constitutionality of the state blue laws had been pretty much taken for granted until recently, when a federal court in Boston struck down a Massachusetts law. The court ruled that the law discriminates against those who observe a day other than Sunday as the Sabbath.

Another federal court in Philadelphia upheld a Pennsylvania blue law, and the conflicting rulings apparently induced the high tribunal to take up the growing controversy.

Until the conflicting rulings by lower courts, the Supreme Court had rejected many Blue Law appeals on the ground they presented no substantial federal question.

The last time the high court reviewed constitutional issues in blue law cases was in the late 1800s. The decision then upheld blue laws with a finding they were essentially civil rather than religious in nature.

Now, however, the religious issue is sharply before the court in the Massachusetts case involving the Crown Kosh super market in Springfield.

Operators of Crown Market said their religious beliefs required the closing of their market from sundown on Friday through sundown on Saturday. The market was kept open all day Sunday. A special three-judge federal court in Boston ruled the Massachusetts "Lord's Day statute" was unconstitutional as applied to Crown Market.

The special court declared: "What Massachusetts has done in this statute is to furnish special protection to the dominant Christian sects which celebrate Sunday as the Lord's Day, without furnishing such protection, in their religious observances, to those Christian sects and to Orthodox and conservative Jews who observe Saturday as the Sabbath, and to the prejudice of the latter group."

Shelby Official Shot Accidentally

MEMPHIS (AP)—A member of the Shelby County Commission, Dan D. Mitchell, was in a hospital here today for treatment of shotgun wounds received in an Arkansas hunting accident.

Mitchell, 58, was struck with 40 pellets from a companion's 12-gauge shotgun while gunning for ducks near Marton, Ark., Monday.

Mitchell's right leg was peppered from ankle to groin, with one pellet lodging in the abdomen. He was first treated at a physician's office, but was forced to enter the hospital Tuesday when the leg became inflamed.

Surplus Larger Than Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States ended the 1960 fiscal year with a bigger budget surplus than it had expected.

The Treasury Department announced Tuesday that the surplus for the fiscal year ending last June 30 had reached $1,224,000,000, or $156 million more than the department had predicted in its preliminary calculation.

Final figures put revenues for the year at $78,457,432,872.73 and expenditures at $77,233,385,451.09.

Pearl Harbor Day Is Now Just History

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP)—The memory of a grim piece of history returned today—as it does each year—to remind Hawaii and the world of a searing lesson written in bombs and blood.

Nineteen years ago—Dec. 7, 1941—more than 2,400 sailors, soldiers, Marines and civilians died during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, called "the day of infamy" by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In the battleship Arizona alone, 1,102 men—from admiral to seaman—perished in a few minutes. Those first U. S. dead of World War II are still entombed in the sunken hulk in Pearl Harbor's depths.

Gen. Emmett O'Donnell Jr., Pacific Air Forces commander, said in a Pearl Harbor Day statement:

"Nineteen years ago military installations in Hawaii were the victims of a surprise attack that started World War II. The cost of that encounter was heavy, and some of the scars still remain.

"These scars serve as a constant reminder that we must never again permit ourselves to be caught unprepared."

Hulan Jack Convicted for His Deals

NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack faces automatic ouster from his $25,000-a-year post after conviction on conflict-of-interest charges involving a $4,400 deal.

Jack, a West Indies emigrant who fought his way to the top in the city's rough and tumble Democratic politics, is the highest ranking Negro municipal officer in the nation.

The verdict late Tuesday by an all-white jury stunned Jack, 55. His attorney said that he would appeal and that Jack would not resign.

The city charter, however, makes it plain that any public officer convicted of a crime automatically forfeits his job.

Jack could receive a misdemeanor jail sentence, totaling three years, plus fines of $1,500. He will be sentenced Jan. 16.

Specifically, Jack was found guilty of twice violating the city charter by permitting Sidney J. Ungar, a lawyer and real estate operator, to pay $4,400, to redecorate Jack's Harlem apartment.

At that time, Ungar was seeking city business, which needed Board of Estimate approval. Jack was a board member.

Suggests Look at Subsidization

MEMPHIS (AP)—A farm publication official says 23 of more than 250 farm crops and products received price supports and suggested city dwellers look closer to home for instances of subsidization.

"For that matter," said Wheeler McMillen of Philadelphia, vice president of Farm Journal Inc., "cities are subsidized by farmers.

Farmers pay a share of taxes that pay for urban renewal projects, building airports and subsidizing airlines."

McMillen said studies show more than 50 per cent of American farmers are opposed to farm subsidies.

He made the remarks to the winter meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

Rep. Udall Is Named Secy. of Interior

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today selected Rep. Stewart Udall of Arizona to be his secretary of the interior—the third of the 10 Cabinet posts to be filled for the new administration.

Kennedy said in a statement that the 40-year-old congressman will bring to the position " vigor and imagination" for the important task of preserving and developing "America's vast and abundant natural resources."

The Udall appointment was by no means a surprise. It had been a virtual certainty for days.

The Arizona House member will serve alongside two governors, Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, Kennedy's choice for secretary of health education and welfare, and Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina, who will be the new commerce secretary.

While Cabinet appointments are coming along slowly — Kennedy says he wants to make sure of getting the best possible men for the positions—he said Tuesday night he expects to announce some of his choice of secretaries of state.

While the president-elect conferred over the breakfast coffee cups with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld of the United Nations, there was no indication whether the American political scene and the State Department post came into the talks.

Market Quota Vote Sites Announced

With the Dec. 13 referendum on marketing quotas for 1961, crop upland cotton drawing near, the Hempstead County Agricultural Stabilization and the Conservation Committee today made known final arrangements for the balloting.

There will be polling places in all of the county's 12 cotton growing communities, the committee announced. Notices showing the dates of the referendum and the location of polling places have been posted in conspicuous places in the county.

The ASC committee also announced the names of eligible farmers who will serve on committees responsible for conducting the referendum.

Polling places and the committees to serve in the referendum are as follows:

Santa to Korea

HONOLULU (AP)—Santa Claus took off today in a New Hampshire National Guard C97 transport with 10,000 pounds of toys, clothing and food for Korean orphans.

Waiting in Seoul is Santa's helper, Lt. Horace D. Verity, Miss. Two weeks ago, whose letter to his hometown newspaper, the Keene (N.H.) here, where ship inspectors found the vessel had stopped. A hull survey requested a few toys for children in a nearby orphanage, and an eel had been sucked into the hole.

The eel, wedged about halfway through the hole, died but it had completely stopped the leak.

Federal Jury Indicts Hoffa on Mail Fraud

WASHINGTON (AP)—President James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union was indicted by a federal grand jury at Orlando, Fla., today on mail fraud charges involving alleged misuse of union funds.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, who announced the indictment, said it also names Henry Lower, former president of a Detroit Teamsters local, and Robert E. McCarthy Jr., onetime branch manager of The Bank of the Commonwealth, Detroit.

Rogers said the indictment accuses the three of using more than half a million dollars of Teamsters funds in a land development project in Brevard County, Fla.

The 12-count indictment charges use of the mails to defraud on eight occasions, and use of interstate telephone or telegraph service for the same purpose on four other occasions.

Cuban Envoy Says He Was Threatened

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cuban diplomat says Cuban Ambassador Quinlan Pino Machado threatened him with death for refusing to return to Havana, Washington police are investigating.

The case apparently stems from a reported snafu in the Cuban Foreign Ministry. Sources say Prime Minister Fidel Castro is replacing career officers with diplomats known for their loyalty to his regime.

In a statement Tuesday, Felix Enrique Hurtado, the career diplomat who said Pino had threatened him, described himself as a Cuban who disagrees with the Castro regime.

Hurtado said Pino, who is ambassador to the Inter-American Economic and Social Council of the Organization of American States, had ordered him to carry a letter to Cuba. Hurtado was an alternate delegate to the council.

But Hurtado said he refused because he felt that the trip would mean nothing less than his imprisonment upon arriving in Cuba.

Hurtado said Pino came to his apartment on Monday, called him a traitor and bent him with his fists. Hurtado said that when his brother came to his defense, Pino shouted "I shall kill you both like dogs, no matter what happens."

Last Friday, two other Cuban diplomats, Manuel Mendia and Aurelio Giroud, refused to return to Cuba and left the Cuban diplomatic service.

Sources said that Mrs. Sylvia Perez de Bellan, an attaché at the embassy, also left her post.

Liberian Tanker Crew Is Rescued

NEW YORK (AP)—The merchant steamer Mary Ellen Conway headed for a South American port today after rescuing 48 of the 50-man crew of the Liberian tanker Sinclair Petroleum which sank after an explosion and fire in the Atlantic.

Two crewmen were reported lost. One of the 48 rescued was injured.

Coast Guard area headquarters here said fire followed a tank explosion on the tanker Tuesday and it sank about 300 miles east of Brazil.

Leak Develops in Bauxite Ship

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A leak developed in the SS Alcoa Pioneer while the bauxite carrier was discharging cargo at Gulfport, Miss. Two weeks ago.

The vessel proceeded to docks where ship inspectors found a hole in the hull. A hull survey requested a few toys for children in a nearby orphanage, and an eel had been sucked into the hole.

The eel, wedged about halfway through the hole, died but it had completely stopped the leak.

ALC Surprises, Goes Against Faubus Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Legislative Council today turned down a formula approved by Gov. Orval E. Faubus for allocation of an anticipated $3 million a year additional for University of Arkansas and the seven state-supported colleges.

The rejection was a surprise in view of Faubus' backing and the fact that the plan was recommended by a special committee of the council.

Objectors said the university would get too much.

The council action left hanging the question of how the money should be split.

The council could reverse itself later or it could come up with a new formula.

Council protestants said the university and its branches would get $1,963,000 of the expected $3 million.

Rep. Raymond Mays of Clarendon County wanted to split the money 50-50 between the university and the seven colleges.

The council refused and left the matter unsettled.

Until the council rebelled, the proposed division had appeared to be a victory for the university and Dr. David W. Mullins, its president, who prepared the plan.

Mullins' plan for giving each of the institutions of higher learning an approximate 22.5 per cent increase in funds was approved Tuesday by Faubus and by the special council committee, which met with the governor.

The council is expected to take formal action on the 1961-62 budget this week. The budget recommendations must receive legislative approval before they're put into effect.

Under Mullins' plan the seven state-supported colleges would get $1,032,300. The university's main campus facilities and Graduate Institute of Technology would receive $707,800; the Agricultural extension service would get $604,600 and the Medical Center would receive $575,100.

The council also recommended approval of a $6,435,000 annual budget for the state hospital for the 1961-63 biennium. Approval was recommended for a $17 million annual budget for the Teacher Retirement System, a $1,524,000 budget for the Children's Colony at Conway for the two-year period and a $660,000 yearly budget for the Melroe Sanatorium for Negroes.

Chapter XXXII

Cliff went back to the car and took out the notebook in which he'd written the information Mr. Johnson had given him. Date of the final pay check, route, dates he was working in White Plains. Cliff sat in his car awhile studying the dates, then he went back into the cleaner's.

"Did you happen to mention to Brick that Mrs. Hamilton had been in here asking about him?"

"Well, uh—I just said that he must be pretty popular with the ladies, after all. Just a joke, you know, and that Mrs. Hamilton wanted to know what his route was."

"I see. What was his reaction?"

"Well, I wouldn't say he had any reaction. He asked if I'd told her, and I said yes. I said maybe she was going to look him up and take him home with her, now she'd lost her boy friend. Just a joke."

"Well, thank you very much, Mr. Johnson. I hope I won't have to bother you again."

"No trouble at all. Any time."

Cliff got back in his car. He sat for a while without starting the motor, planning his next move, sorting out facts, adding what he had learned to what he already knew.

He snapped his fingers. What was that old biddy's name? Mrs. Schmidt. He'd go see Mrs. Schmidt. She'd been Mrs. Whiting's closet neighbor.

He cruised along North Broadway, parked and walked down the block until he reached the apartment house. In the small, rather shabby entry he scanned the name plates. Dr. Whiting's card was still there. Below it was the one he wanted: Augustus Schmidt, 5B. There was no buzz.

On the third floor he spotted 5A and paused to look across the hall where entirely different — a city — Janet. Your father and I will help you. Do on with your plans to teach — this is no time for you to cling to a way of life that you have known before. Make a clean break."

Janet straightened the sheet music on the piano. She had not suspected the depth of her mother's understanding. It touched her. Help was being offered, no string attached. "I know," she said. "I've thought about it. I don't intend to stay here. I'm going to make plans. Don't worry, Mother."

Her father broke the silence that followed, clearing his throat nervously before he began. "Your mother and I have decided to move, too, Janet. To Florida. If you feel you would be happy near us, we would, of course, be more than happy to have you come with us. Not that we are trying to force a decision on you. Whatever you decide to do, count on us."

Janet braced herself against the piano, alarm in her voice as she said, "Florida? But you didn't like it mother. That winter you and Daddy spent—"

"Mrs. Graham answered slowly. 'I don't think it will be so bad. It's high time we stopped rattling around by ourselves in that big old house.'"

The control Janet had never seen falter slipped. Mrs. Graham's face screwed up like a baby's and she pressed a handkerchief to her eyes.

After she sent her parents off to bed, Janet fed Junior and started doing the dishes.

The doorknob rang. Janet lifted his head, torn between hunger and duty. He barked summarily and returned to his food.

Janet wiped her hands and turned off the hot water before she started for the front door. She lugged at the doorhandle, but it would not turn; her hands were greasy, she rubbed them against her apron, then grasped the knob and pulled hard. A gust of cold air entered the hall as the door gave way.

"Darling, Merry Christmas," Jason said.

AF Unveils Model of Space Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force unveiled today an experimental model of a satellite capsule designed to carry a monkey explorer in the most dangerous part of the sky, the lower Van Allen radiation belt.

The Air Force is particularly interested in that region, 600 to 1,000 miles above the earth, as the most likely orbital zone for a hostile satellite.

The 50-pound model was built for the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division, Inglewood, Calif., by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. under a hitherto unannounced contract for about $60,000.

It is called Alpha ABC, for Advanced Biomedical Capsule, and was put on display at the annual meeting of the American Rocket Society.

The capsule contains a contour couch, somewhat like that of the Mercury capsule, for the monkey passenger.

Col. Ed Cole, director of the bi-astronautics office of BMD, said the capsule could be launched with equipment now available, and the recovery system successfully used for the election and recovery of capsules from Discoverer satellites.

The capsule would be launched into an orbit in the heart of the Van Allen radiation belt, the area in which scientists dare not send human beings for a protracted stay.

Plant Damage Is $100,000

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — A spokesman for Crestliner, Inc., today estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000 the damage in a fire at the plant Sunday.

The plant, which manufactures boats, has temporarily stopped production because of loss of materials but is expected to resume a full schedule by next week.

Manager W. D. Craighead, who made the damage estimate, said the fire was confined to a comparatively small space in a rack of boats. Origin of the fire was not determined.

Craighead said 81 boats were destroyed or damaged and added that the loss estimate included the price of the craft.

The fire set off a sprinkler system. Low pressure at the municipal water works led to discovery of the fire, which had not previously been detected.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache or muscle aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upset or day to day wear and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation, with that restless, uncomfortable feeling that's not really backache, but is a warning sign.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Don't get out help by their pain relieving action. Their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable, with restless, sleepless nights, don't wait. Get Don't Pills, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 10 years. Ask for now. In every drug store and save money. Get Don't Pills today!

Apoplexy

Apoplexy or stroke is brought about by the rupture of arteries of the brain. If this condition does not result fatally it will usually leave one side of the body paralyzed.

There are nerves leading to all blood vessels and control flow and pressure of the blood. It is through this mechanism that chiropractic adjustments reach the cause of High Blood Pressure and other conditions of the circulatory systems. By removing the cause of High Blood Pressure now you will avert the possibility of a stroke in the future.

Evident Red Leaders Are Not in Accord

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Now that they have had their battle of words behind the Kremlin walls, the Soviet and Red Chinese Communists are trying to make it appear that they are agreed on all matters concerning world policy. The evidence is to the contrary. The fight is far from over.

Now making a ceremonial tour of the U.S.S.R., Red China's President Liu Shao-chi gave an interview Monday to Premier Khrushchev's brand of "peaceful co-existence." His words might fool the untrained ear, but they clash with what is still going on in the Communist press.

On the day the Communist summit meeting ended, Pravda, the central organ of the Soviet party, devoted much of its second and third pages—traditionally the spot for important messages—to a long article denouncing those who "distort" Marxism-Leninism. It went back to the Marxist classics for citations to show that the movement's success "depends to a decisive degree on the inviolable unity of proletarians of all countries."

Pravda added: "Any violation of this unity, any disconnection in the actions of the Socialist parties or the national groups of the working class only weakens its own position and strengthens the position of the bourgeoisie."

"The great Marx and Engels struggled against all attempts to pit the national interests of the proletariat against its international interests."

Translated, Pravda meant that failure of any party to fall in line unquestionably with Moscow's leadership helps the enemy—the United States—and that any attempt by a Communist party to place its own fortunes ahead of the needs of Soviet policy harms the world movement.

What is the overriding interest of Soviet policy? It is to advance communism without serious risk of a nuclear war. The Pravda article quoted various Marxist saints as predicting that power could be seized peacefully, and as warning against "ultrarevolutionary attitudes, dogmatism and sectarianism." The Red Chinese have been

The home was gaily decorated with colored balloons and a lovely arrangement of mums was placed on the coffee table. Games were played and he received many nice gifts. Favors were blow-outs. The dining table was covered with a green and yellow Happy Birthday cowboy cloth with a pretty cake inscribed the same.

The hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Aubrey Anderson of Prescott, served cake, punch and mixed candy to 21 guests.

Warring Parents Blur Values for 16-year Old Daughter

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:
The first thing I remember is Mom and Dad fighting. Then they separated and I went back and forth and landed in a boarding house. Dad finally took me with him. I was nine at the time and 16 when he remarried, which is now.

I planned to come to the city live with Mom and get a job. I found out that she had once tried to give me away and that turned me against her.

Before I left home I started going with a guy two years older than I. He landed in jail. I went to my aunt's. This boy started writing me. My aunt saw the jail stamp on his letters and made me write "goodbye" to him. On top of this I got news that our house had burned down.

He's out now and won't get into accused of all those things.

Theory, said Pravda, is just dogma, not a guide to action. This was a reminder to the Red Chinese that theory must be set aside if and when it conflicts with the best interests of the leading Communist nation.

On the same day, an article was published by the Albanian Communists, who obviously supported the Red Chinese at the Communist summit. They were laying the Kremlin thesis, despite all their doubletalk purporting to back the general Moscow line. And, if the Albanians aren't buying it, the likelihood is that they still are taking the cue from Peking.

The Albanian article insisted Communists must have "no illusions at all that peace is secured" because the balance of forces in the world has changed. Khrushchev's argument is that war now can be avoided because of Soviet power. But the Albanian article insisted Soviet power could do more than provide the "possibility of peace."

"All events," it went on, "prove that although the positions of imperialism have weakened, imperialism has neither abandoned nor will it abandon, as long as it lives, its policy of aggression and war."

To picture peace as probable, said the article, plays into the hands of communism's enemies. So the argument goes on and on, unresolved by three weeks of Red summit. And because it is unresolved, the Red Chinese, with their reckless and "ultrarevolutionary" attitudes, remain a grave threat to peace.

James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is on vacation.

Trouble again. He'll be in the Army soon. When he finishes his service, which will be for three years, we want to marry.

Dad is giving me a business college course and wants me, for my own sake, to get a job. I can't understand why my aunt and Mom are so against this boy. I know I did wrong in deceiving them and am being punished. But the boy has been punished enough. Am I wrong or are my relatives?

Dear M. Life can be hard and yours has been, but I'm afraid it will be still harder if you marry this boy. Thank your lucky stars you can't marry till he's out of the army. Time solves so many problems and three years is a long time. Wait and see how you feel then. Meanwhile, get to work on that business course. Whether you marry or not, it will be a real asset. Do your best and you'll win out, especially if you keep your feet on the ground and your eyes on the stars!

Dear Helen:

My husband's parents have been separated eight years. He has two brothers and a sister. We are in our middle 20's and the sister is 19. She has lived with their mother since the separation and been a good girl until her graduation from high school. Her brothers have tried to offer her guidance but she has either resented it or at least thought differently. She failed at college, has had numerous accidents with her car, squandered her small salaries, and now the worst, become involved with a married man and had a baby out of wedlock.

Financially and emotionally neither she nor her mother, who is 60, is equipped to raise a child. Her brothers tried to convince her she should give the child up for adoption. None of them condemned her but tried to offer her sympathy and understanding. Naturally they were hurt and fell ashamed of her, but we felt that perhaps we had failed too somewhere along the line.

She deceived us into thinking arrangements had been made for the adoption, but instead, had her baby a week ago and brought it home. Her poor mother never crosses or disagrees with her. The brothers financed their own way through college. One is working on his master's degree, married and has two little girls. The others in his third year of medical school, and my husband has a good position with a chemical firm. We have two little girls, ages four and two.

Should we make one last ditch attempt to get her to give up the baby? She has had hopes of marrying, that father, as he cannot or will not get a divorce. We do not know him.

Or should we say nothing? She asks for no help. What do we tell our little girls, and how do you explain such things as they grow old enough to ask about? This mayed.

Dear Helen: Since your young sister-in-law is courageous enough to keep the child and asks for help, there is little you can do except hold out a hand if need be. She sounds lacking in appreciation but maybe it's just a front to hide a wounded heart, for this is no easy experience she has just been through. Once she gets her sense of proportion back, she may change her mind about placing the child for adoption.

Meanwhile, don't worry about what to tell your little girls till the time comes. Children adapt themselves to unconventional situations far easier than adults.

I just can't seem to rise above this problem. We belong to a church. I enjoy the services, teach in Sunday School, sing in the choir and help out other ways whenever needed.

But I've never really been accepted by the members—only invited to parties like baby showers, when they want presents. I go and give showers myself. Yesterday while four of us were planning another shower, two of the girls started discussing parties they'd been invited to. That hurt! I'm a friendly person and never have trouble making friends—except at church. Any help you can give will be appreciated. —Mrs. C. W.

Dear Mrs. C. W.: Perhaps you give too much of yourself. Try being a little more reserved and reticent. Have other engagements when asked to help out at church or bring a present and attend a shower.

Separate your spiritual and social life. One should never involve the other.

I talk to you as I would myself for I too am impulsively over-generous with time and energy because I love to give. I've found out that there is such a thing as giving too much.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper.

Porkers Lose to Oklahoma S. in Overtime

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State battled from behind to defeat the Arkansas Razorbacks 50-50 in an overtime basketball game here Tuesday night.

Regulation time ended with the score tied 46-46 after the Razorbacks lost a five-point lead. Steals and layup shots by Cecil Epperley and Fritz Greer thumped the game for the Cowboys after the Razorbacks went into a freeze with six minutes left.

Eddie Bunch hit a layup to begin the overtime period. Then L. C. Gordon hit four free throws and the Cowboys coasted in with the victory.

Epperley paced the scoring with 18 points. High for the Razorbacks was Clyde Rhoden, who scored all of Arkansas' overtime points.

G&F Closes Two Hunting Areas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission said Tuesday that the Bayou de View public hunting areas in Poinsett county will be closed to hunters on Monday and Tuesday.

A commission spokesman said overcrowded hunting conditions brought on the decision to close the 2,000-acre area, which is four miles west of Weiner.

The area will be open to hunting during morning hours only on other days of the week, the spokesman said.

Minnesota Man Lineman of the Year

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — College football's Lineman of the Year finished a 2½-hour full-pad workout by doing three cartwheels, a couple of handstands and a backflip.

Tom Brown wasn't grandstanding. "He's just one tremendous athlete," said a Minnesota coach. "It's Tom's way of tapering off."

The 235-pound All-American guard reaped his highest award of a great season of line play for the Gophers Tuesday by being named The Associated Press Lineman of the Year.

Rarely in major college football has a national championship team owed as much to one lineman as Minnesota owes to this ex-sailor who was 24 Tuesday.

On a squad swarming with musclemen Brown was the unchallenged leader, an inspirational force, a crunching tackler and a powerful blocker—at times a one-man line.

With massive shoulders surmounting a strong, stumpy frame, Brown is almost too much for one man to budge when he's on defense. On offense the sight of Brown's No. 69 in front of him was all the incentive quarterback Sandy Stephens needed when the Gophers had short yardage for a touchdown.

"This has been the finest experience of my life," Brown said, "playing with a national championship team and being lucky enough to get this personal honor. It's wonderful, and I still have trouble believing it."

The voting marked a runaway for Brown, who tallied more than 40 per cent of the ballots. Runner-up Mike Ditka, Pittsburgh All-American end, garnered less than 10 per cent and E. J. Holub, Texas Tech's center, was a remote third.

Cal's victory was its 24th straight at home but came in the face of a hot-shooting first half by San Jose, which led 27-22. The Bears' defense gave the visitors only two free throws for 11 minutes of the second half.

Duquesne went on an 18-0 tear in the second half and came on to beat Georgetown (DC) 95-81 and Santa Clara edged Miami (Fla.) 68-65.

Elsewhere, Penn beat Navy 64-53, Penn State rolled past Lehigh 66-50, Princeton won over Temple 74-64, Texas A&M defeated Houston 66-61, Marquette easily handled Wisconsin-Milwaukee 99-63, Hardin Simmons knocked off Eastern New Mexico 72-61, Arizona belted Arizona State College 78-59, Southern Methodist conquered Florida 74-64 and Memphis State walloped Baylor 84-58.

Hog and Old Miss Game Possibility

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The possibility of an Arkansas-Mississippi game in 1962 is still in the confusion stage.

A university spokesman said "No" when asked Monday if the two would meet in 1962.

Razorback Athletic Director John Barnhill Tuesday declined comment and about all Coach Frank Broyles would say was, "I don't handle scheduling."

The confusion began when a Texas newspaper quoted Broyles Monday as saying the series would be dropped "for a few reasons" because of high feeling about the match. Broyles denied making the statement publicly, but admitted that he had discussed the matter "privately" while in San Antonio. It was previously reported that his remark came in an appearance before the San Antonio Quarterback Club.

While confirming the comment Tuesday, Broyles declined to elaborate on it.

The Arkansas-Mississippi series was cancelled once before because of high feeling. That was in the late 1940s. It was resumed after a few years.

Citadel Breaks West Virginia Win Streak

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

How did West Virginia miss All-American Jerry West? Well, they miss him had enough today to have to start a home winning streak from scratch after The Citadel broke the 44-game string Tuesday night 88-80 and set itself up as the one to beat in the Southern Conference race.

But while West Virginia lost its home streak, an even bigger one continued. St. Bonaventure, which plays in the armory in Olean, N.Y., won its 44th "home" game, beating Little Villa Madonna (Ky) 93-73, behind Tom Stith's 32 points.

Cincinnati, last year's national champion behind All-American Oscar Robertson, now in the pros, had to go all out in the final minutes to beat Miami (Ohio) 72-60.

North Carolina won its second in two nights, easily defeating Virginia 81-47, sub. Jim Speaks sparked North Carolina State to a 70-67 victory over Clemson; Oklahoma State went to overtime to beat Arkansas 50-50; Illinois beat Butler 84-52; Michigan conquered Pitt 86-70; Maryland won over George Washington 80-68; and California squeaked by San Jose 43-39.

Cal's victory was its 24th straight at home but came in the face of a hot-shooting first half by San Jose, which led 27-22. The Bears' defense gave the visitors only two free throws for 11 minutes of the second half.

Duquesne went on an 18-0 tear in the second half and came on to beat Georgetown (DC) 95-81 and Santa Clara edged Miami (Fla.) 68-65.

Elsewhere, Penn beat Navy 64-53, Penn State rolled past Lehigh 66-50, Princeton won over Temple 74-64, Texas A&M defeated Houston 66-61, Marquette easily handled Wisconsin-Milwaukee 99-63, Hardin Simmons knocked off Eastern New Mexico 72-61, Arizona belted Arizona State College 78-59, Southern Methodist conquered Florida 74-64 and Memphis State walloped Baylor 84-58.

Alberty Is Back for Workouts

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Joe Paul Alberty will be out for practice Monday when the University of Arkansas Razorbacks get down to fullscale workouts for their Jan. 2 Cotton Bowl clash with Duke.

Alberty, the Hogs' No. 1 fullback, spent most of the regular season out of play because of injuries. But trainer Bill Ferrell said Tuesday that "he's not my patient any longer."

Razorback Coach Frank Broyles said Tuesday that the team would Duke until after they return from their Christmas break.

Duke Coach Bill Murray said his "Blue Devils will begin their Cotton Bowl drills Dec. 13, with no heavy workouts planned until Dec. 17.

Indiana Played a Full Big Ten Schedule That Didn't Count

Yes, Virginia (the Cavaliers lost 10 games and tied Kansas State's major college record-losing streak of 28), it was an odd college football season.

So odd, in fact, no single oddity.

Odd Things About Past Grid Season

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

A quarterback returned a missed field goal attempt 108 yards for the winning touchdown. A cool ran on the field to kiss Harvard's Charley Ravenel in full view of a regional television audience.

Indiana played a full Big Ten schedule that didn't count.

Yes, Virginia (the Cavaliers lost 10 games and tied Kansas State's major college record-losing streak of 28), it was an odd college football season.

So odd, in fact, no single oddity.

Standards Out Today Among Results of 120 Odd Ballots Cast by Sports Writers and Broadcasters Voting in The Associated Press Postseason Poll

The missed field goal attempt might have won feet down only if it happened at Burlington, N. C., in a North State Conference game that received scant national attention.

George Wooten of Elon will never forget that Oct. 22 game against Catawba. He was the quarterback who picked up the missed field goal in the end zone and took off on the 108-yard run—longest in conference history.

Coach Pres Mull of Catawba won't forget either. In fact he's probably still mulling over why he ordered the field goal try with his team ahead 12-7 and only 15 seconds remaining.

The ball was on the Elon 17. Back Ronnie Evans tried the field goal and it went wide. Then Wooten went for the TD and Catawba's apparent victory went out the window, 13-12.

Ravenel got his kiss for Harvard's touchdown in a 39-6 beating by Yale.

Indiana was left out of the Big Ten standings as a disciplinary measure for working too hard at getting football players that could win the conference title.

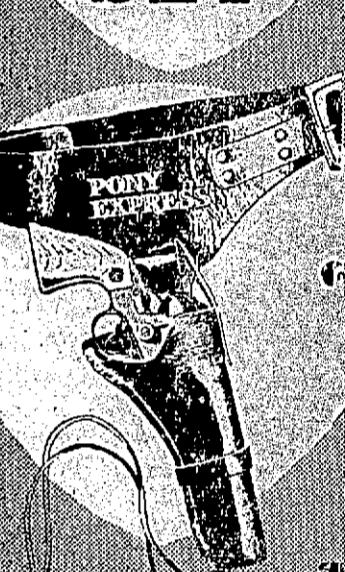

Then there was Mrs. Elliott, a fan from Bloomington, Ill. She's so much a fan that she prayed for a tie when Michigan (coached by son Bump) played Illinois (coached by son Pete). Bump won 8-7.

Rockies Gripped in Bitter Cold

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A bone-chilling cold set in across the northern and central Rockies today as snowfall turned to light flurries.

The mercury dipped to 31 degrees below zero at West Yellowstone, Mont., and 17 below at Big Piney, Wyo.

As the two-day snowstorm cleared out of the region, icy highways accounted for two deaths and caused hundreds of traffic accidents. The snow depth reached eight inches in Denver.

Clearing skies chased the storm out of Wyoming and southward into northern New Mexico, where a freezing drizzle fell early today. Nearly all mountain highways were icy, but remained open.

Victims of separate highway accidents blamed on the storm were Ray R. McFarlin, 73, of Akron, Colo., and Norma Mae Madewell, 32, of Durango, Colo.

The use of the Potomac River from the river's mouth at Chesapeake Bay to Alexandria as a trade route dates back to the 1600s.

Norrell Not In Favor of Dist. Split

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Rep. W. F. Norrell of Monticello said today he would term at large rather than see his Sixth Congressional District broken up by re-districting.

And Norrell said, health permitting, he will be a candidate for reelection in 1962, regardless of whether, or how, the state is re-districted.

Norrell discussed the re-districting problem length in an informal news conference in the governor's office. Later he met Gov. Orval E. Faubus in what he termed a courtesy visit.

Arkansas apparently will lose two of its six congressmen as a result of a population decline.

One of several re-districting plans would split Norrell's Sixth District between the First and Fourth Districts.

Norrell attacked this plan with vigor. He said the Sixth District had pretty well held its own in population.

"The idea of re-districting is to give representation to areas where the population has shifted," Norrell said. "Under this idea, the Sixth District should not be changed drastically because it still has its people."

Norrell said that, although he personally would prefer to run at large, he felt the Legislature should go ahead with re-districting.

Running at large means all candidates for Congress would enter a state-wide race for the four available positions.

This has been suggested as an alternative to re-districting.

Norrell did not put much stock in reports that Congress might enlarge the membership of the House with the result that Arkansas would lose only one seat instead of two.

"But I agree with Gov. Faubus' suggestion that the Legislature should hold off re-districting until it learns Congress' intentions in this matter," Norrell said.

Asked about the possibility that the six incumbent congressmen might get together and work out a re-districting plan among themselves, Norrell said flatly he felt this was impossible.

N. O. School Windows Are Knocked Out

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Window-breaking and a threat by mail underlined today the continuing bitterness over school integration in New Orleans.

Vandals hurled two stones through the kitchen window of the housing project apartment of Mr. and Mrs. James Gabrielle during the night. Police mounted a guard there.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation began investigating the "general situation" surrounding the Rev. Lloyd Foreman, who reported receiving a threatening letter. Foreman's house was victim of night-time vandals a day ago.

Foreman and the Gabrielles have refused to honor a segregation boycott of the William Frantz School and have faced daily insults from angry pickets in taking their daughters to school.

FBI agents would say only this about the letter to Foreman: "We've conducted certain inquiries at the request of the Justice Department."

Lessening of demonstrations, hastened by police action in moving blockading pickets back a block from William Frantz, appeared to be nothing more than an uneasy and temporary period of half-calm.

Newsman counted 20 white children and one Negro girl entering William Frantz this morning. The figure was later officially confirmed. Twenty three pupils attended the school Tuesday - the biggest boycott break since integration began last Nov. 14.

At the city's other integrated school, McDonogh No. 19, three Negro girls entered under escort of U.S. marshals to a brief chorus of boos. Traffic along the busy avenue seemed most of the dozen hecklers.

No white children appeared to run the boycott.

Co-op Generating Plant Authorized

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Public Service Commission has authorized the Arkansas Electric

Co-operative Corp. to build a $10,500,000 steam generating plant near Ozark.

The order, issued Monday afternoon after a brief hearing earlier in the day, clears the way for a construction loan from the Federal Rural Electrification Administration.

The PSC action was a formality since no objections to the proposed plant were raised.

That was in contrast to an earlier effort for a similar plant about 10 years ago when privately-owned utilities blocked the plan in court.

The REA already has authorized the loan conditioned on PSC approval.

Yule Buying Expected to Hit Record

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Christmas shopping got off to a slow start in some areas but many merchants expect a record season despite unsettled economic conditions.

This was disclosed today by an Associated Press survey of leading stores in 20 major cities.

Mild weather got most of the blame for light buying in late November and early December.

Storekeepers were looking for a late surge to repair the damage. Eight cities reported early buying was down, seven said it was better and five found it about normal.

Merchants said people seem to have plenty of money to spend but are more cautious and selective than usual, possibly because of apprehension about rising employment and other economic factors.

Prices are about the same or a little lower than last year.

"Things started off with a real bang," the place has been really jumping," reported one of Philadelphia's biggest stores.

"There is nothing to indicate we shouldn't have a banner year. Employment is up, income is up," was the word from J. Malcolm Bridges, manager of the Richmond, Va., Chamber of Commerce.

"I guess people have more money to spend," said Robert Wilhelm, merchandising manager of San Francisco's Emporium department store, reporting volume higher than a year ago.

"One of the brightest Christmas seasons in history," said the Denver Retail Merchants Association.

Los Angeles and Washington merchants predicted a banner year.

In New York City, Gimbel's big department stores reported sales improving after a lagging start. The jewelry store, Tiffany's, said sales were running 15 per cent head of last year.

"There's been nothing about the independent co-operatives.

A spokesman said construction would begin as soon as a site is selected and that completion was expected by July 1963.

Seven co-operatives are to draw power from the plant.

Mobutu Says Lumumba Not Beaten

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu today denied that ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba has been tortured and disfigured in prison. But he refused to release a report by two doctors who examined Lumumba.

Mobutu said the doctors, Belgians serving in his Congolese army, found Lumumba's "general state of health perfectly satisfactory."

He then read from a certificate by the doctors that Lumumba is receiving "all the medical care required of his condition."

The certificate, as read, said nothing specific about Lumumba's condition but Mobutu said the ex-premier has "one foot slightly sprained and his left eye swollen."

As a result of the beating he received from Mobutu's soldiers when they arrested him last week.

U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld asked Congo President Joseph Kasavubu to permit examination of Lumumba by the International Red Cross. He said Lumumba's seizure raised general fears for his safety.

Hammarskjöld's special representative in the Congo, Rajeshwar Dayal of India, reported Lumumba was suffering from serious injuries and was held under inhumane conditions.

weather to set one thinking of red noses, reindeer or otherwise," commented a Detroit merchant, discussing the early sales lag.

St. Louis stores noted that unusually warm weather had held down buying enthusiasm and a merchant said, "It'll be nip and tuck to catch up."

Chicago also put the blame for an unimpressive start on high temperatures but J. Chalmers O'Brien, executive of Carson Pirie Scott & Co., said there is general optimism for a very good season.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. said shopping is picking up momentum and predicted last December's record sales will be exceeded.

Colder weather in early December brought an improvement in Detroit but sales were reported seven to eight per cent off from last year.
